Innovations for Poverty Action

Researchers
Sharon Wolf
University of Pennsylvania

J. Lawrence Aber
New York University

Evaluating Ways to Improve Early Education in Ghana

Professors Sharon Wolf of the University of Pennsylvania and Larry Aber of New York University spoke to an audience in New York about their studies with IPA in Ghana on improving the country's early childhood education system. IPA Executive Director Annie Duflo them and spoke about the importance of relationship building in research and policy engagement, reflecting specifically on working with Ghana's Ministry of Education. Read more about the studies here and here, and listen to the audio or download below.

[scald=8646:full]

April 27, 2018