

Article Link

<http://fsp.bc.edu/new-product-boosts-low-income-saving/>

New Product Boosts Low-Income Saving

A Connecticut non-profit is testing a new product to help low-income people overcome their particular obstacles to saving money.

Innovations for Poverty Action is recruiting participants at the District Government Employees Federal Credit Union in Washington. The effort replicates a program already up and running in New York City.

July 29, 2011