

Article Link

http://ssir.org/articles/entry/a_durable_fix_for_global_poverty

Social Science Innovation Review on IPA's findings for the ultrapoor

Stanford Social Innovation Review reports on IPA and our partners' six-country evaluation of the "graduation" approach to helping those who make under $1.25 a day. According to Harvard economist Michael Kremer

"...it's very encouraging. We're not going to eliminate extreme poverty by 2030. But we can get most of the way there with the tools that we have available."

November 19, 2015