

Article Link<http://pulse.com.gh/health/in-ghana-ipa-research-reveals-how-mobile-phones-impr...>

Mobile Phones to Improve Reproductive Health in Ghana

The Ghana Pulse reports on a talk by PI Slawa Rokicki presenting results from a study of sexual health education study. The study, conducted with high school senior girls around Accra found that a 3-month program regular SMS messages and quizzes about reproductive health improved knowledge on those topics significantly, even at a follow-up fifteen months later.

April 13, 2016